Officials declare water "Safe"

by Jeff Nazzaro

"Our water is safe," Wilmington Department of Public Works (DPW) Superintendent Robert Palmer stated in response to anonymous reports handled by the Town Crier that the town water supply caused intestinal problems in two children.

Palmer speculated that people are out to "make the problem [within the water and sewer department] worse than it is."

The complaint came from a woman refusing to identify herself, but claiming she lives in the Shawsheen Avenue neighborhood of Wilmington.

From June 27 to July 9 the water department pumped some 3.3

million gallons of untreated water from the Shawsheen pumping station into the town's water supply, according to Water and Sewer Superintendent Paul Niman.

While the water was untreated, samples were run through bacteriological analysis by the Burlington Water Treatment Plant at a lab certified by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

"It is troubling to me," Niman said in regards to the complaint received by the Town Crier about unsafe water.

"There is no way that [the water and sewer department] would ever pump any water [into the water supply] without receiving [bacteriological analysis] clearing," Niman said.

Niman says that while reports that the town's water is unsafe are "absolutely untrue," unfiltered water sometimes yields an "earthy taste" and a "chlorine odor," neither of which are indications that the water is not safe.

According to Niman, all the water in the town's supply is now treated and should be of "normal quality."

Any future complaints about town water should be directed to the DPW or the town manager's office, according to Palmer.

Motorcycle accident injures one

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington Police are calling speed the probable cause of the single vehicle motorcycle accident on Route 38 near Boomer's Billiards Sunday that has left a 23-year-old Wilmington man hospitalized.

John Hersom, III of Butters Row, "lost control of his motorcycle, scuffed off the pavement [of Route 38] three times and then hit the [telephone] pole," said investigating officer Sergeant Chris Neville. Hersom was thrown approximately 200 feet from his motorcycle following impact with the telephone pole.

The accident left Hersom in "stable condition, resting comfortably," as of Tuesday, according to Boston City Hospital, where he was evacuated to via helicopter at roughly 4 p.m. Sunday, police said.

As a result of the crash, Hersom has been cited by Wilmington Police for "operating under the influence of alcohol, excessive speed, operating with a revoked driver's license and operating an unregistered vehicle," according to Neville.

Appliance recycling begins

In conjunction with curbside recycling set to begin August 2, Wilmington residents can have unwanted white appliances—refrigerators, stoves, washers, etc., collected from their property at no additional cost to them.

The waste/recyclables collection contractor, Allied Cartage, Inc. of Woburn, will be required to assume responsibility for collection and proper disposal of all such items, including those that fall under special federal guidelines.

According to Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull, this service is a great benefit to town residents. "Federal law mandates the removal of the freon gas from all refrigerators, air conditioners and other refrigeration units," says Hull, "and in most communities, the homeowner bears this burden—both economically and logistically."

Hull says that the terms of the five year contract with Allied specify that the responsibility of procedures such as freon removal be transferred from the resident to the waste hauler. "This is a real service to Wilmington residents," says Hull.

Curbside collection of all white appliances is scheduled for Fridays and arranged through the Department of Public Works. Residents wishing to dispose of these large appliances should call the DPW at 658-4481 no later than 4 p.m. on Thursday for Friday pickup.

Because of the danger of accidental suffocation posed to children playing with discarded appliances, residents are reminded that all appliance doors must be removed or rendered inoperable before they can be set out for disposal.

Town seeks contractors for Small Cities program

Wilmington Town Manager Michael Caira is urging interested general contractors (or sub-contractors desiring to get on a contractor's team) not already pre-registered with the Small Cities program, to do so immediately.

Please contact the Small Cities Program in Town Hall, Room 4, 121 Glen Rd., Wilmington. Telephone 658-6333 ext. 7228 to receive a registration form relevant to the Housing Rehabilitation component of the grant.

For those not familiar with the program, the Housing Rehabilitation portion of the planned activities will be making improvements on 20 to 25 dwelling units within the Silver Lake target area. The rehabilitation will involve repairs to bring units up to compliance levels with the Mass. Sanitary Code.

Examples of the types of repairs allowed include: structural deficiencies, poor roofing, substandard plumbing, heating and electrical wiring; lack of egress; failed on-lot sewage disposal; and severe water intrusion.

Lead paint and asbestos removal also must be addressed and, in limited instances, exterior painting may be permitted. It is also probable that up to five units located outside of the target area will be assisted with single purpose emergency repairs.

The housing rehabilitation component of the Town of Wilmington's Small Cities program is beginning inspections pursuant to the bidding process in August. Two to three weeks after the inspections, the first contractor's showing of homes will begin, which all interested bidders must attend.

Following this, the bidding process will start and the initial jobs will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. In the coming months, the units selected will receive full or partial grants to bring their homes up to code compliance level and to address other conditions.

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISOIS

LENDING MONEY WITHIN THE FAMILY

No matter how close and loving family is, money is money. And affection may stay warmer if loans are written formally "at arm's length" to protect both parties, especially taxwise.

Most basic: the loan must be in writing and the rate of interest at or near market, or the IRS will impute the unpaid interest as a gift to the borrower. A mortgage should appear on both tax returns: interest to one; a deduction to another. It should be formally recorded with the jurisdiction as a lien on the property.

A parent lending money to a child for a business venture needs protection - and a tax writeoff - in case the business fails. Two good choices: make a non-recourse loan, stating on the note that the lender will look only to collateral (or income from its sale) for repayment; or have the borrower incorporate the business and lend directly to the corporation. The borrower/relative is protected and won't be liable for payment on the debt from other funds; and the lender/relative can write off the loan if it's not repaid.

Tax questions are important in many family decisions. You'll get good answers from the tax professionals

A Town Crier Newsnote:

Tewksbury residents will enjoy an extra degree of protection starting in early October when the Tewksbury Police Department adds the services of a K-9 to their force.

The highly-trained German Shepherd is expected to help to take a big bite out of local crime...and should prove especially effective in the fight to rid the area of drug trafficking.

Breakey mourned

Dear Larz:
Last week the town lost a great contributor to its educational system. The death of Roger Breakey has left many Wilmington High School alumni with a great loss.

His 37 years at WHS, first as a teacher and later a guidance counselor, touched thousands of students. I best remember his volunteer role as director of the CCD classes at St. Thomas' weeknights in the 60's. I'm glad to see a scholarship has already been set up in his name.

Sincerely,
William Clayton

Dogs a problem

Dear Larz:
This letter is in response to Kevin Sowyrda's Frankly Speaking column of July 21, 1993. His comment that the board of selectmen spends too much time on dog issues belittles the pain and fear suffered by town residents victimized by vicious dogs. The reason the board has been hearing these cases is because our present policy of enforcing the leash law is ineffective at best, and the board is the only source in town that has the authority to act upon a vicious dog complaint.

If Mr. Sowyrda were present in my yard on June 16 to see the brutal attack on my small beagle by a vicious, roaming Bullmastiff, while four very young children were playing just feet away, then I believe he would congratulate Selectman McCoy and the other board members for having the courage to call for an end to an outrageous situation.

I requested a hearing before the board because I lived in fear for the safety of my children and pet, as well as the safety of the neighborhood children and pets. It was no small feat for me, a private citizen, to go before a televised hearing of the governing body of this town and recall in detail the most violent experience I have ever witnessed and describe its' effect on my family.

Instead of minimizing the seriousness of these attacks, perhaps Mr. Sowyrda would like to help develop an alternative solution to what has become a growing problem in this town. The board of selectmen acted fairly and appropriately to protect all the citizens of Wilmington from a very real threat to everyone's safety.

Sincerely,
Theresa M. Manganello

letter to the editor

Problems with dogs and much more

Dear Larz:

After reading Frankly Speaking, I feel compelled to write this letter to the editor. Kevin Sowyrda states that the Wilmington Board of Selectmen spend too much time on dog cases than real issues of the day. First of all, relative to the dog issue on this particular case, we had a complaint from a woman on Gandalf Way who was horrified of a Bullmastiff roaming on her property attempting to tear her small beagle apart and just a few feet away were three small children. This is just a summary of the story because, your paper failed to report this story.

After this vicious attack, the police showed, the dog (beagle) was taken to the vet's, the bullmastiff was taken to the pound, and the entire episode was heard before the board of selectmen.

After hearing testimony of this bullmastiff attack on other animals, a neighborhood has been in fear of a vicious dog, the owners of the bullmastiff were given at least two warnings to restrain their animal, I then felt that we exhausted all other avenues, but had to face the tough task of having the dog euthanized. I made the motion to do so, and the other three members voting with my motion were Selectman Bruce, Allen and Duggan. Selectman Cain was in opposition to my motion.

So Kevin, tell those people of Glen Road, Gandalf Way, Clarinda Road, Washington Avenue, Augustino Drive, and other surrounding streets that the Board of Selectmen's time and a decision for them is a waste of time. I think not.

You stated Chairman Bruce lacks leadership and what has happened to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen? Well, Kevin, I'll tell you and residents will tell you that this majority of the board of selectmen doesn't conduct business as usual as other past boards.

Chet Bruce, as chairman, does a great job by giving people in this community a chance to speak their minds at selectmen's meetings and after all, isn't the board of selectmen an arm of the residents in town? Kevin, I know what your agenda is. Tell the people in this community how great a guy Bob Cain is. After all, you accepted money from him and his family when you ran for State Rep. (as "campaign contributions") and to make, or try to make, the other four members of the board look foolish so that you can start to write nice and heartwarming articles for your former campaign manager and hopefully get him back on the board of selectmen. I'm talking about none other than Mark Haldane, the $10,000 man.

Finally, in your column, you stated "jobs, jobs, jobs." One freshman member made a campaign promise to make the economy a number one agenda item, a promise many voters hurt by this economy had grabbed hold of during the election. So much for campaign promises. Obviously, you were referring to me.

My answer to this, Kevin, is do you read your own paper; the Advertiser, and the Lowell Sun, which have all reported on certain motions I have made in trying to help people save money? In less than five selectmen meetings, I have made several motions to help people in this tough economy. For example, I motioned the board that we send a letter to all our local state legislators and urge them not to support any new taxes particular to the increase in the excise tax and increase of Prop. 2 1/2 to be allowed to rise at the rate of inflation.

I motioned the board to send a letter to our congressman and our two senators, Kerry and Kennedy so that they would support legislation which would allow resident to deduct the cost of their water and sewer bills from their federal income tax.

I motioned the board to send a letter to the Department of Public Utilities because Colonial Gas was seeking a rate increase. The DPU has that power to increase rates, so I asked if the DPU would not consider the increase this October 1, 1993, but to May 1, 1994 so that gas users could save money this upcoming winter because last winter was a cold and snowy one and bills were sky high for gas consumers.

All of the other members supported my motions of letters to be sent out. My ultimate goal was to save money for the taxpayers in this community. Also, I even intervened in the private sector as a public official in trying to save the natural gas rate payer money on their monthly gas bills. So Kevin, I've done more in less than 100 days, a selectman trying to save people money in taxes and bills than any other selectman has done during their tenure.

So, please, once again, you're distorting the truth and for Heaven sake, read the newspaper. I, myself, can look into people's eyes in this community and say I've kept my campaign promises.

Selectman Michael McCoy

Town Crier Editor Rick Cooke responds: Here we go again, Mike. I thought you were upset with the dog issue, which by the way, was reported by Jeff Nazzaro in last week's Town Crier as a straight piece of reporting. Apparently, the problem runs much deeper. Hopefully, disagreements on this board will not run deep and it can get on with town business, and not town politics as usual.

Making time for the MDA

by Jeff Nazzaro

Lieutenant John Brown has been a member of the Wilmington Fire Department for 23 years. For the last 20 years, Brown, who now lives in Tewksbury, has devoted much of his time away from the fire station as a volunteer for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

Originally intended for the "Off-the-Clock" page of the Town Crier, this profile of Brown is perhaps more appropriate as a regular feature, since for Brown, time spent "off-the-clock" usually means a lot of hard work.

"I like to think that I put my off-the-clock time to the best possible use," Brown says regarding his work with MDA, adding "you couldn't pay me for the reward I get out of this."

Brown has spent the last 20 years going to camp - camp for persons afflicted by Muscular Dystrophy (MD). Here, his training as a firefighter has paid off, and his tireless efforts working at MDA camps have yielded dividends.

"Firefighters are used to lifting people, and that was how I was introduced to what they needed me for here, and from that grew having fun with the kids. And when I first went to camp I realized that [people with MD] were just the same as me, but they were in a wheelchair. And that's a heavy statement, but it's true, because they had needs just like I did, only they needed assistance to do it. And their minds were fine."

"I grew up with some of these guys, talked about the same things, dealt with school, dealt with work and the problems encountered there. Friendships and relationships. For a couple of years that was my whole life. I was with these people all the time, going to parties with them and lugging their wheelchairs around—that all grew out of camp."

"A lot of things grew out of camp: my understanding for accessibility needs, independence, the work in Wilmington with the Access is Mandatory (AIM) Committee and the Handicap Affairs Committee all came from the Muscular Dystrophy Association."

Muscular Dystrophy, which assumes many different forms, is a hereditary disease which causes a wasting of the muscles.

There is no cure, but there is hope through the local efforts of Wilmington firefighters who supplement the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon.

The fact that MD does not affect the brain causes inconceivable frustration from those with the disease, and incessant misunderstanding from non-sufferers, a fact that from time to time infuriates the normally amiable Brown.

"[People with MD are] treated like [they are] mentally retarded. A person with mental retardation has a different set of problems to deal with, where they may be completely physically able and they're just a little bit slower. People, even in our business, look at them, because they're in a wheelchair and treat them [as if they are mentally retarded]."

"I get very upset and go to their defense and say, hey, this kid's got a college degree," Brown says, recalling a particular incident.

Spending long hours with people who face life expectancies of as little as 25 years has forced Brown to distance himself as best he can to minimize painful attachments.

He did form one lasting friendship with a camper. The bond that has resulted seems almost fated, marking the growth and struggles of two men and their abilities to understand one another. John Brown's long lasting friendship with Rick Dresser has given rise to countless more relationships which, while maybe not as absorbing, are equally important.

Dresser, who is still alive, is six months younger than Brown. "From [Dresser] I learned a lot about people. We got closer because I suddenly was able to overcome some of my fears that came with people. He made the comment to me one day, 'it's okay to touch my wheelchair, you won't catch it, and then the light bulb came on.'"

Brown, who credits his mother Lillian, a Wilmington resident, with instilling in him his charitable nature, has earned the respect, trust and admiration that come with 20 years worth of MDA campers.

Brown will continue to work at the camp until, as he says, "the day comes that I can't."

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, members of the school committee for their kindness during our recent loss.

We were especially moved by the scores of young people who came to say good-bye to their friend and counselor. They touched our hands and moved our hearts. We will remember them always.

EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER

Learning is something children do... while they're having fun! That's the philosophy of the Lil Red Schoolhouse and, at this school, the children have lots of fun!

At the Lil Red Schoolhouse, each child receives close, personal attention. Teachers and staff believe that it is important to be aware of the pressures, changes, and challenges in each child's life... in and away from school. At school, the physical, social, emotional, intellectual and aesthetic development of every child is encouraged.

This early childhood center enrolls toddlers, nursery, full day, extended day, and school age children in various programs covering ages 15 months to 14 years.

In the summer, the Summer Explorer's Camp is available for children ages 6 to 14 years. This year's theme is

At the Lil Red Schoolhouse... the children are having fun!

"Saving the Earth's Environment." The children will learn about the Rainforests, Deserts, and Atmosphere/Space. Students aged 12-14 can participate in a "Counselor in Training" program which enables them to help plan or run activities with the younger children.

The Lil Red Schoolhouse is located at 1503 Andover Street, Tewksbury. For more information, call Executive Director Alice Juchnevics-Kontos at (508) 851-3220.

Journeys Unlimited Travel Service, located at 1269 Main Street is one of the oldest established travel agencies in Tewksbury. The agency is owned and managed by Ruthie Maher and staffed by Tewksbury people who care about the community and its residents.

Ruth says "We pride ourselves on individual attention and personal service for each and every client. Like 'CHEERS', everybody knows your name. Most of our clients are our friends and neighbors - and THEN, their friends and neighbors. Word of mouth has proven to be our best form of advertising." At Journeys Unlimited you'll feel right at home while you're going away. The atmosphere in the office is like your kitchen at home. Come in... have a cup of coffee, relax and have fun while you plan your trip!

Whether it's a gambling spree in Las Vegas or Atlantic City, a honeymoon in Hawaii, a wonderful family jaunt to Disney, that long awaited Caribbean cruise, or that dream trip to Europe, Ruth and her staff are ready to assist you with all your travel arrangements.

Exploring the L'il Red Schoolhouse

by Jeff Nazzaro

The L'il Red Schoolhouse building on Andover Street in Tewksbury has stood for over 150 years, but it has only been seven years since the Explorers first settled there.

The Explorers is the name given to the L'il Red Schoolhouse summer day campers. Explorers are ages 6 to 14 and participate in an enrichment program of fun and learning.

The original L'il Red Schoolhouse, built in the 1840's, served the Tewksbury School System as the Ella E. Fleming School until the late 1970's when Proposition 2 1/2 forced its closing. That's when Alice Juchnevics-Kontos stepped in.

Juchnevics-Kontos took plans she had for operating a preschool out of the former one-room schoolhouse to then Tewksbury Superintendent of Schools John Wynn and the Tewksbury School Committee. Six months and 86 gallons of paint later in March of 1984, the L'il Red Schoolhouse Early Childhood Center opened for business.

"L'il Red [Schoolhouse] puts in approximately $20,000 in maintenance a year, pays rent and maintains an historical building at no charge to the town, in addition to providing a service and jobs," Juchnevics-Kontos says.

The preschool currently employs 16 teachers and four administrators. All instructors carry credentials surpassing Massachusetts Office for Children regulations.

The L'il Red Schoolhouse lists its philosophy as "providing an environment which will contribute to the physical, social, emotional, intellectual and aesthetic development of the child."

The L'il Red Schoolhouse, which handles children in its summer camps from 15 months to 14 years of age, is using "saving the earth's environment" as the theme for the Explorers.

"We want to teach what kids don't know a lot about, and what is coming into focus in the world is the rainforests," said Director Barbara Cinelli.

The Explorers are set to embark on their second journey of discovery, deserts, after spending nearly a month learning about the rainforests. The summer camp will conclude September 3 with a session on atmosphere and space, until next summer when the Explorers' journey will begin again.

L'il Red Schoolhouse kindergarteners graduate

Celebrating 10 years of quality education, the L'il Red Schoolhouse Early Childhood Center in Tewksbury's Kindergarten Class of Mrs. Jeanne Doherty and Mrs. Carla Byrne graduated to a packed crowd of family and friends at the Loella Dewing Elementary School. The graduates entertained the audience with special songs. Following the distribution of diplomas, graduation exercises concluded with a surprise slide show of the children participating in various activities throughout their kindergarten year.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

OFF TARGET SPRAY

QUESTION: Can the use of spray cans cause serious eye damage? If so, what can be done to prevent this?

ANSWER: Any foreign substance entering your eyes can result in eye damage ranging from simple irritation to permanent blindness.

Spray cans present problems because of the large number of potentially dangerous products now available in that form. An inadvertent squirt of such a chemical in the eye will cause damage to the tissue, especially if not immediately flooded with water.

With all spray cans, always check and double check to see that the arrow is pointing away from you before pressing.

BE CAREFUL when using spray cans. The can could cause eye injury unless you're careful.

FIRST CLASS FACTS

Most air travelers who pay the 30 to 50 percent over standard coach fares for first class tickets report that it's the roomy seating and peace and quiet that pulls them in. Since screaming infants and rowdy teenagers seldom fly there, first class gives passengers the gift of undisturbed travel time, especially prized by business travelers. Other first class perks generally include a separate check-in counter, access to special airport clubs, no minimum or maximum stay requirements, and unlimited stopover privileges on certain flights. Then, of course, there are the frills, such as alcoholic beverages on the house, better food, more individual attention by flight attendants, and perfume and hand cream in the lavatories.

You can always count on first class service when you plan your travels through ALL AROUNDTRAVEL. And even though there is no charge to you for our services and you pay the same fares as if you booked directly, you get professional, personal, experienced attention to your every travel need. Discriminating travelers know 203 Jefferson Rd., N. Wilmington (Rt. 62) is the place to go for efficient, creative, personal travel at its best. We're open Mon-Fri 9-5 and after hours by appointment. Ph. 658-2313.

HINT: Some companies authorize employees on business trips to fly first class when coach is completely booked.

Tewksbury's Kittredge Family of physicians

by Capt. Larz Neilson
The towns of Billerica and Woburn agreed on mutual boundaries about 1654. Today, the southeast boundary of Tewksbury and the northwest boundary of Wilmington are a part of that line.

It was about that time that English born John Kittredge arrived. He was an "indentured servant." Henry A. Hazen, a Billerica man who wrote the story of his home town reported that "John Parker" was the "master" of John Kittredge. Hazen's date is 1660.

Indentured servants were not like other early immigrants. The Pilgrims, the Puritans and others who settled in New England, and the Quakers who settled in Pennsylvania, had agreements with ship owners as a group about their transportation.

Persons who were not a part of such a group had to make agreements with the shipmasters. They were transported across the ocean, and the shipmaster, after the voyage, received payment by "selling" the services of persons so transported.

Many English were so transported. So were many Germans, from the principalities of that country. They made their way to the coast of Holland, where they agreed with shipmasters for their transportation, often to Pennsylvania.

In due time John Kittredge received his freedom as an indentured servant. He received grants of land from the Town of Billerica. The first seems to have been on Sept. 25, 1660.

In 1661 he received a grant of "sixty and four acres." That land was easterly of Round Pond, in the present Tewksbury. A part of that land today is where the Oblate Fathers have their buildings. That offer was established in Tewksbury for the purpose of caring for the patients in Tewksbury Hospital, as well as ministering to residents of the Roman Catholic faith.

The family that John Kittredge established became a family of physicians. Generations of men, in Billerica, Tewksbury and other towns were called Dr. Kittredge because of their skills in healing.

The first John Kittredge married Mary, daughter of Francis Littlefield of Woburn, November 2, 1664. The farm of John Kittredge remained in the family hands for several generations. John Kittredge died in 1676.

Three sons survived him. According to Hazen, the first son, John, became the first Dr. John Kittredge. Hannah French was the lady who became his bride in 1685. At that time there were no medical colleges. Those who wanted to become physicians were apprenticed to other physicians, just as were, for instance, carpenters.

The first Dr. John died in 1714. He was buried in the Shawshen Cemetery, the first established in the present Town of Tewksbury, near the Shawshen River.

His son, who was also Dr. John, born in 1684, is also buried in the Shawshen Cemetery. He died in 1756, 72 years old.

Dr. Benjamin Kittredge was one of the sons of the second Dr. John. A brother, Jonathan, was one of the men killed by Indians in 1725, in Lovewell's expedition to New Hampshire.

The wife of Dr. Benjamin was Rebecca. All of their children were born in Tewksbury. Some were born quite probably on the farm that Benjamin purchased northerly of the present center of Tewksbury, the former site of Wang Laboratories.

There were eight sons. All became physicians and were featured about 1930 in the Ripley Believe it or Not cartoon.

Listed were: Benjamin of Exeter (1667), Henry of Tewksbury (1787), John of Framingham (1771), Jacob of Billerica and Ohio, (1781), Rufus of Portsmouth (1789), George of Epping, N.H. (1777), Theodore of Kittery, (1775) and Charles of Watertown (1779).

Dr. Henry Kittredge's Tewksbury home was called the "Kittredge Homestead" and later became known as the "Gray House." The property eventually became the Wamesit Lodge, AE&AM, located in Tewksbury Center. It was torn down about 15 years ago to make room for a commercial project.

The farm of Dr. Benjamin Kittredge, on North Street, was purchased by the Town of Tewksbury in 1828, to be used as a "poor farm." Tewksbury paid $3500 for the property to Miss Rebekah Kittredge, granddaughter of Dr. Benjamin. The town sold the farm in 1918.

THE TOWN FARM

by Capt. Larz Neilson
The choice of the farm of Dr. Benjamin Kittredge to be the "town farm" of Tewksbury was not an accident. It was the best farm offered.

A committee of six men was appointed in the town to choose the best farm the purpose. Six farms were offered by owners. The committee chose the farm of the late Dr. Benjamin Kittredge.

Many Middlesex and nearby counties were choosing "town farms," about 1820. The various towns had a problem for a century and a half from having to care for the poor. Selectmen, in many towns, were vigilant in watching for such problems.

Wilmington and Tewksbury were very similar. Both towns had elderly, for whom there was no provisions, the mentally ill, and the tramps, who were always seeking a free meal and a place to sleep. In some years nearly 200 "transients" were cared for.

Tewksbury finished with its services of a "town farm" about 1920. In Wilmington, the "town farm" lasted a few more years.

1930 cartoon

A "Believe it or Not" cartoon, by Ripley, published in 1930. Mrs. Marion Kimball of Tewksbury received a copy, shown here, from a cousin in Seattle, Washington.

DR. BENJAMIN KITTREDGE (1740-1826) of Tewksbury, Mass. WAS THE FATHER OF 8 SONS - ALL OF WHOM BECAME PHYSICIANS

A 1930 photograph of the grave of Dr. John Kittredge, in the Shawshen Cemetery. He is the second Doctor Kittredge to live in what is now Tewksbury. He was born in 1684; and died in 1756.

Wilmington Farmer treated by three generations

by Capt. Larz Neilson
Asa Sheldon was one of the most interesting persons ever to have lived in Wilmington. Before his death, in the years following the Civil War he wrote the story of his life. It was printed in Woburn, and nearly every family in Wilmington had a copy. The Wilmington Women's Club about 50 years ago printed more copies, three of which are in Wilmington Memorial Library. They may be read there, but not taken from the library.

Asa at the time was living in the home, recently destroyed, which was the home of the late Stanley Webber, on Main Street,

Wilmington near Butters Row. He entitled his book "Wilmington Farmer."

His writing is noticeable in that he never names a person who can be found at fault. Such was the case in the incident which brought in Dr. Frank Kittredge to treat Asa.

Asa and an unnamed partner had bought a sawmill in North Wilmington, south of Salem Street, some time in the early 1800's. An accident occurred there November 13, 1809. Read what Asa had to say.

"While engaged in moving a loaded wagon I fell under it, one wheel passing over my hat, and another over my left leg, not only breaking it, but smashing it. Under the misguided judgement of the oldest man in the company this sad affair took place. The bone was well set by Dr. Frank Kittredge of this town."

"A week or 10 days after the accident, as Dr. Kittredge was dressing the wound, I raised myself upon my elbow and saw that he was cutting out a bit of flesh, the size of a quarter dollar. He then ran a probe, the marrow spurting up like water. "Does that hurt you?"

"I told him that I would shoot any man who amputated, if I lived." There was no amputation and Asa recovered.

"In the month of February 1856 I was visited with the severest attack of sickness I ever suffered. I was first attacked by pleurisy. It increased so fast that the family, anxious for my safety, sent next day for Dr. Edmund F. Kittredge."

of Ipswich, N.H., now of Lowell, Mass.

He pronounced the disease to be typhoid pneumonia of a malignant type. The fever ran high; my pulse for several days was as high as a 140. I lost all consciousness from the first day, but my faithful friends and family were unremitting in their attention.

The next week, as my wife was watching, a sudden change came over my countenance. "Oh!" "He is gone!"

The doctor, who was present, said: "He may yet live to lay cents on your eyes!"

"He remained with me for three days and nights, and soon consciousness returned. He did not bleed or blister. He gave me no physic or emetic; yet he carried me through as I believe few others could."

"This Dr. Kittredge was the grandson of he who so faithfully watched over me laid up with a broken leg."

Summer's not over

We all are aware of the extreme heat we have coped with this summer. The summer is not over yet, and we may have another spell of that type of heat during the month of August. Therefore, we should also be aware that our bodies become less effective in dealing with prolonged exposure to extreme heat. Along with that, certain medical prescription drugs can make us more vulnerable to heat.

Temperatures of 90 degrees and above can cause heat stress, especially when the humidity is high. To avoid heat stress, use head protection when outside, wear light weight clothing, stay inside during the hottest time of the day and drink plenty of fluids.

Hypothermia dangerous

Take cool showers or baths. Hypothermia is a life-threatening in the summer months as in the very cold weather of the winter months. The symptoms of hypothermia we should be aware of during the hot weather at home or at beaches are: fatigue, nausea, confusion, dizziness, headaches, rapid heart beat, diarrhea, breathing problems and weakness. If you feel any of these symptoms during the extreme weather, call your doctor. He/she can advise you what to do.

Thanks, Nora

We thank Nora Marchant from the Social Security for enlightening the center on the benefits covered under Social Security and Medicare. She answered many questions from the seniors present.

Bob O'Byck August 17

At the next meeting of the commissioners August 17, the guest speaker will be Bob O'Byck from Blue Cross, Medex Insurance coverage. He will explain the different Medex policies. How they have changed, what they pay, etc. This is a must meeting for every senior covered by a Medex policy.

August social

Seniors are in the process of signing-up for the August 12 therapeutic social. It will be a dinner dance at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks. A ham dinner with all the trimmings will be served at 7 p.m. A $4 non-refundable deposit will be required when signing-up to help defray the cost of the evening.

Friends & Neighbors Blood Drive Aug. 17

Many area organizations are inviting the residents and neighbors of Wilmington, Woburn, Reading and Burlington to a Friends and Neighbors Blood Drive, part of an unprecedented summer campaign launched by the American Red Cross Blood Services-Northeast Region.

The Friends and Neighbors Blood Drive will be held Tuesday, August 17 from 2 to 8 p.m. at St. Anthony's Hall, rear, 1020 Main St., Woburn.

The blood drive's supporters encourage their friends and neighbors to join this grass roots, multi-community effort to donate 200 units of blood - a significant quantity for area patients.

Those attending the drive will be entered in a drawing for gift certificates, compliments of the Showcase Cinemas in Woburn and the Purity Supreme in Woburn. For the comfort of donors, the blood drive facility is air conditioned.

The Woburn event is one of 16 Friends and Neighbors blood drives being held throughout Massachusetts and Maine during June, July and August. Friends and Neighbors Blood Drives aim to boost summer blood donations, which traditionally decline for two reasons: college and high school drives are rarely scheduled during the summer, and corporate and community drives draw fewer donors during the vacation season. However, there is no vacation from the need for blood to help cancer, trauma, surgical and other patients.

In Massachusetts and Maine alone, an average of 1,100 units of blood must be donated each day to meet patients' needs.

Residents wishing to help replenish the community blood supply may be eligible to donate if they are in good health, are at least 18 years old (17 with a signed American Red Cross parental/guardian consent form), weigh at least 105 pounds, and have no history of exposure to hepatitis or the AIDS virus. There is no upper age limit for donors, and most medications are acceptable.

For more information or to schedule a donation appointment at the Friends and Neighbors Blood Drive in Woburn, please call the American Red Cross at 617-461-2099 or 1-800-258-0025, ext. 2099. Volunteers are needed to help at the drive. Those interested should call the above numbers.

All-star baseball

Finale for Major stars, 3-2

by James Pote

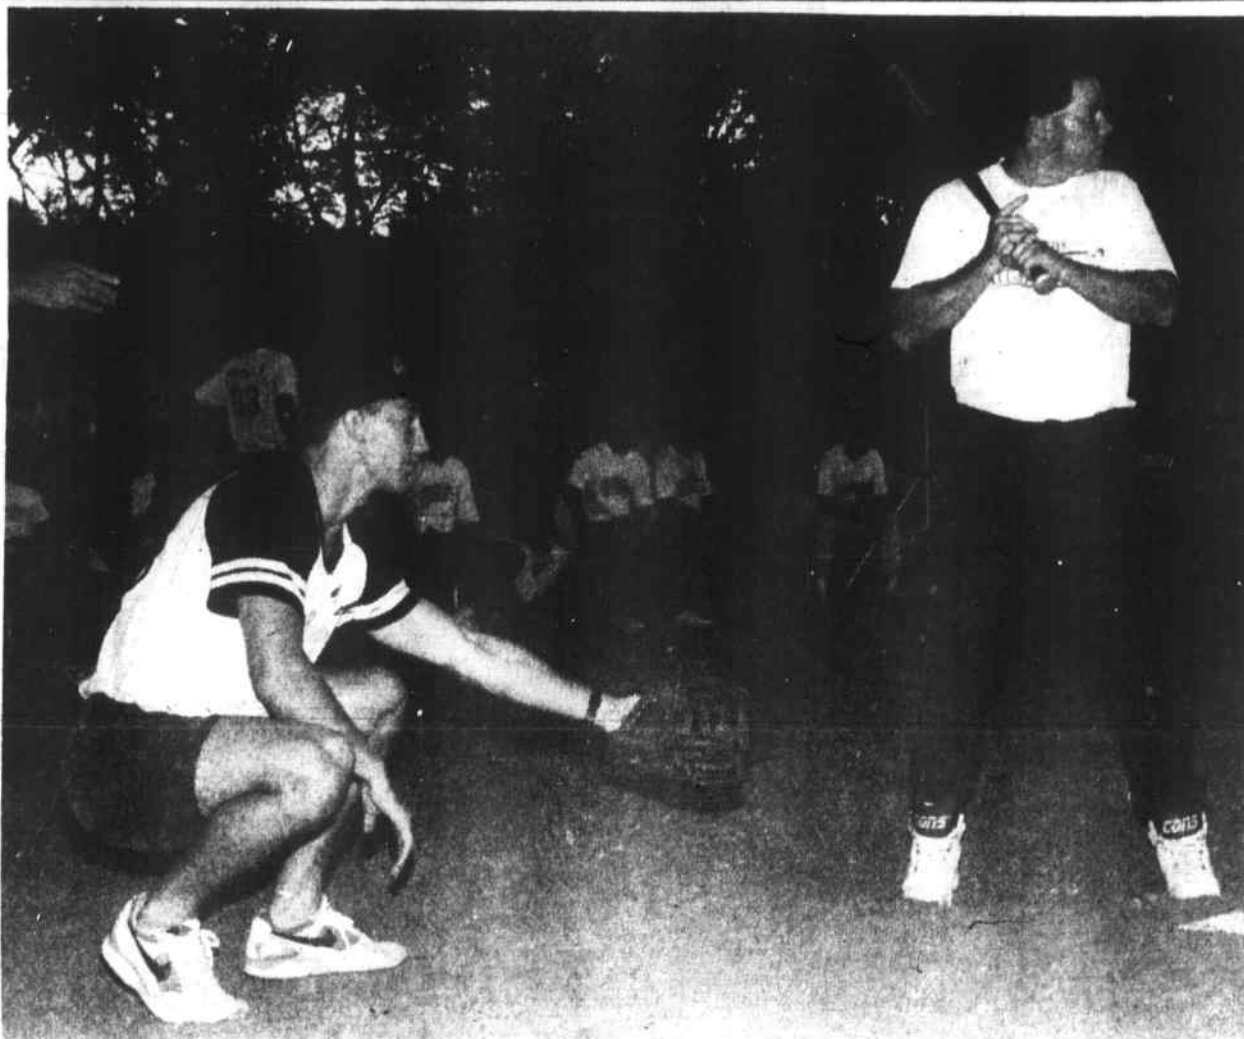

The Wilmington Major Little League Team took on a tough Arlington American team where a loss would send them home and a win would advance the team to the district finals. Unfortunately, Wilmington's season ended with a tough defeat.

Wilmington got on the board early, as Ralph Sirigano singled in Dan Sweet to take the 1-0 lead, but Arlington came back with one run in the second to tie it up at one apiece.

Sirigano drove in another run for Wilmington to take the 2-1 lead only to have Arlington tie it back up again. Sirigano was doing it all, as he pitched superbly, yielding just seven hits and supplying the offense Wilmington needed.

But, in the bottom half of the sixth inning with the score still tied at two, Arlington scored on three hits to take the win of 3-2 and end the season for Wilmington.

It was a tough loss for Wilmington and especially for catcher Matt Coyne, as he played exceptionally well defensively.

Famous Faces coast, 13-8

by Jamie Pote

The Wilmington Firefighters Union Local 1370 All-Stars took on the Famous Faces Bruins Celebrity Softball Team last Friday before a packed house at Aprile Field.

Many youngsters came out to see some of the current and recent Bruin players Don Sweeney, Steve Heinze, Rick Middleton, Gary Doak, Gord Kluzak and many other stars as they all signed autographs for the fans throughout the night.

The firefighters were having a tough time through the first three innings thanks to Don Sweeney's three-run homerun in the first inning as the Bruins were off and running.

Ex-Bruins' defensemen John Blum was cruising along, blanking the firefighters through the first three innings as the Bruins held a comfortable 9-0 lead.

However, the firefighters did not die, as they came back with Bob Woods leading them with his two triples. Teammates Linda Abbott, Richie Hughes and Bob Varey all rapped hits to help launch a comeback for the local firefighters.

Also playing well defensively was thirdbaseman Al Muse, but unfortunately for him and pitchers Paul Welch and Linda Abbott, that was not enough against the famous Bruins, as they lost, 13-8 in the third annual dual.

Wilmington all-stars wrap-up season

Marblehead 15

Wilmington 8

Wilmington's nine to 10 year old travel team, participating in the Bay State Tournament and sponsored by Town Market Citgo, played Marblehead at Rotary Park July 17.

Wilmington's pitching got roughed up for 10 runs in the first two innings and could not come back in this one. Wilmington's Scott Buck had an RBI double and a single as he went two for three.

Other notable plays in this game were the great catches made by Chris Calway in centerfield and Kevin Forgett in left field and the outstanding plays at shortstop by Tim Riley.

Reading 7 Wilmington 4

Wilmington's next game was played at the North School-July 19 against Reading. This game was the best played game by Wilmington thus far in the tournament as Derek McClaren pitched six excellent innings.

In the sixth inning, Wilmington was down 4-3 when Derek McClaren hit a solo homerun over the centerfielder's head to make it a 4-4 tie.

The seventh inning went scoreless, as Eric Swiezynski struck out the side, but in the eighth inning, Reading scored three runs and held on to make the final, 7-4.

Andrew Coyne drove in two runs with a double and Brian Roberts had a good all-around game with a single and a couple of fine plays at shortstop. Kevin Forgett made a nice catch in centerfield.

Big bats keep McTire rolling, 21-15

by James Pote

McTire is on a roll as they took two more wins and are now tied with Charlie's Auto Body for second place as they both have identical records of 8-4 in the heated Wilmington Adult Softball League race.

Last week McTire took on Stelio's and their bats seemed as if they were on fire, as they stroked 26 hits and scored 21 runs against Stelio's pitching.

Paul Fullerton led the attack with four hits, including three doubles, while teammate Pat Taylor delivered what was probably the longest homerun in several years at the town park.

McTire was not done yet, as Paul Cawthorn had three hits, as did Mark Peters, Bob Frongillo and Bob McKenzie in this slaughter.

But Stelio's stayed with McTire as they scored 15 runs of their own to lose this one by a score of 21-15. John Engdahl and Steve Fitzpatrick led Stelio's attack with three hits apiece, but that was not enough for the struggling Stelio's.

McTire 10

Charlie's Auto Body 9

This game was a lot closer for McTire, as they scored seven runs that included rbi hits from Mark Peters, Marc Reed and Bobbie McKenzie to take the early lead.

Charlie's kept chipping away, as Peter Brown hit a solo shot in the second, and after Dave Newhouse's triple he scored on an RBI single by Frank Botte.

Dan Sullivan and Bobby Brown each drove in runners to tie it up, while John Chiampa singled in a run in the sixth before McTire score one of their own to make it a 9-9 game.

But, in the bottom of the seventh, Mark Peters was at it again as he drove in Bobby Hoag with the winning run to take this close contest.

Rocco's 12 Charlie's AB 5

It was all Rocco's and Mike Herra in this onslaught as Rocco's defeated Charlie's, 12-5. Mike Herra demolished two pitches for two homeruns and four RBI's as he helped struggling Rocco's get closer to the top.

Jimmy Rappoli, Chuck Duggan and Jim Smolinski all had three hits each to help Herra and Rocco's take this one.

Rocco's 25

Shea Concrete 19

Rocco's kept its' hot bats alive as they took on the last place Shea's Concrete.

Rocco's Richie Rappoli who was supposedly hurt, had the game of his life, as he stroked five hits and hit for the cycle to lead Rocco's to yet another victory.

Richie had a homerun, triple, two doubles and a single and drove in eight teammates to get the player of the game award.

John Pierce had another homerun, while Bobby Flores and Mike Deraianian each had three hits in the losing cause.

Three Sons Contracting 6 Lions Club 5

Three Sons contracting got their biggest scare of the season when the Lions Club played an all around excellent game to surprise the first place team.

With the score tied at one apiece going into the sixth inning, Bob Wilcox extended the lead to 4-1 with a three run homerun. Three Sons also scored two more that inning to make it a 6-1 lead but the surprising Lions Club was not dead yet.

They made it 6-2 after six and they scored three more in the seventh with rbis from Ernie Poole, Bob Ducey and Bill Lee to put three Sons in total panic but their panic held off as they took this one 6-5 and now are in double figures with their 10 wins.

Stars ready for Hockey Night in Boston

Nearly 400 of the nation's top high school hockey players from 24 states are perfecting their game in anticipation of the 19th annual Hockey Night in Boston "Showcase of the Stars," set to begin Saturday, July 31.

The 17 team extravaganza, which kicks off HNIB's 22nd season of promoting scholastic hockey, will take place for the second consecutive summer at the S. Peter Volpe Complex on the campus of Merrimack College.

All 80 games of the round-robin portion of the tournament are free of charge. (Admission charge for playoffs August 22-29).

Over the next seven weeks, including the unique Sophomore tourney now in progress, some 50,000 spectators will be on hand to witness the best young hockey players from across the country competing on an all-star level against each other.

Last year's tournament produced a near record crop of 32 NHL draft picks chosen in Quebec City on June 26.

Hockey Night in Boston has for two decades been the unparalleled leader in promoting and showcasing high school hockey. First in New England and now New Jersey, New York and the Mid-West.

In addition to the summer and All-Scholastic tournaments, HNIB maintains a pulse on the high school hockey scene year round by means of 11 publications and the acclaimed HNIB Recruiting Services.

Wilmington bows out

Reading 12 Wilmington 2
Wilmington's final game in the first round of the Bay State Championships was played at Reading July 21.

Wilmington played a very solid game except for the third inning when Reading scored all 12 of its runs. Tim Riley pitched well in this game and Eric Swiezynski hit a triple and stole home for a run.

Brian Roberts and Derek McClaren had basehits, while Sean Cannon put the bat on the ball for a basehit in this game.

Wilmington is scheduled to play six games in the second round of the tournament starting July 31.

Thirty-two tracksters make the grade

Thirty-two boys and girls from Tewksbury qualified for the all-state championships of the Hershey Track and Field Program this summer. Two of the young tracksters went on to place first in their events at the state championships in Braintree on July 16. This marks the most successful year for Tewksbury in the Hershey track program.

It all started with the Hershey qualifying meet which was held at the TMHS' track June 23.

Eighty-eight elementary and middle school students participated in the eight field and track events and the times and distances in each age group were sent to the Hershey Meet director to be compared with the times and distances of over 50 other Hershey Meets held throughout the state.

Only the top 14 competitors in each event were eligible to go to Braintree for the State Championships, and 32 athletes from Tewksbury did well enough to make the trip.

The two standouts for Tewksbury were Andrew Beasley in the 800 meters (ages 13-14) and Jason Wagstaff in the 50 meters (ages nine-10). Both boys finished first in their events in Braintree. Andy ran away with the 800 meters in an outstanding time of 2:13 and Jason nailed down first in the 50 with an excellent :07.73 clocking.

Both boys came very close to making the trip to Hershey, Pennsylvania for the National Championships. To do that, they needed the top times in all of New England. Unfortunately, a bionic runner from Vermont had a better time than Andy, so Andy was not able to make another trip to Hershey (he went in 1992), even though his time is one of the best in the nation. Jason's time placed him third in New England, a very outstanding performance, indeed.

The other qualifiers from Tewksbury were: The 4 x 100 relay team of Rebecca Ambro, Molly Boyle, Megan Donoghue and Nicole Venuti; third at Braintree.

The 4 x 100 relay team of Marka Boudreau, Matt Kobelski, Jay

Stamp and Brad Wagstaff; eighth in Braintree.

Four x 100 relay team of Dianna Bradley, Joanna Bradley, Rachel Neff and Erin Fox; seventh at Braintree.

The 4 x 100 relay team of John Byrne, Robert Fitzmaurice, Eric Nickerson and Jason Wagstaff; fifth at Braintree.

The 4 x 100 relay team of Courtney Walls, Amanda Venuti, Kristen Taipale and Lindsey Rose; 10th at Braintree.

Tommy Boyle, softball throw, third at Braintree; Kelly Boyle, softball throw, fifth at Braintree; Katie Brimer, softball throw, 14th at Braintree; Kevin Doherty, softball throw, third at Braintree; Richard Enos, 400 meters, 10th at Braintree; Kerry Ford, softball throw, second at Braintree; Danny Mahoney, 100 and 200 meters, 10th and fourth at Braintree; Eric Nickerson, softball throw, fifth at Braintree; Amy Powers, 100 and 200 meters, fourth in both at Braintree; Tim Shiner, standing long jump, fifth at Braintree.

Amie LeBeouf, 400 meters, Lauren Peckiewicz, 800 meters and Jennifer Takach, mile run qualified for Braintree, but were unable to compete.

Tewksbury will hold another qualifying meet for the Hershey Track and Field Competition next June during the last week of school. The meet is for boys and girls ages nine through 14 and all young athletes in town of those ages are eligible to participate.

Getting ready for hunting

by Bill Conlon
It's hard to think about hunting in the middle of summer, but it's the best time to do so. Prepare now for a more enjoyable hunt in the fall.

For starters, summer is the easiest time to begin working out, getting into shape for the hill climbing and deer dragging to come. Really, did you feel like you were in shape last deer season? Of course not.

Personally, I have a problem with working out in a gym setting. It just galls me to pick up steel, only to put in back in the exact same spot when I'm done. Instead, I'd rather work when working out, get some benefit from the labor.

For upper body strength, my two favorites are rowing and chopping wood. Rowing is simple, if you've got a small boat. Leave the motor at home, and don't forget to bring the oars. Rowing, I've discovered, will move me across the pond just as fast as my Minn-Kota, and I get more out of it.

Chopping wood is a labor of love for me. A good splitting maul and a stack of logs cut to length, plus a sledgehammer and a few wedges for when the log doesn't split clean, and I'm set for the day. Chopping wood belabors the arms and back, and you get double duty on the back when you stack the finished cords.

Digging is also good exercise, but, how often do you need a trench dug in the yard?

As for the legs, hiking and riding a mountain bike are tops. Both will build endurance, which is far more valuable in deer season than strength, and they both let you see the countryside. Scouting is never wasted in hunting, but you can't see much from the driver's seat of a car.

Speaking of scouting, summer is a perfect time for camping out, the ideal double duty. Find a reason to take the kids camping, then strap on the packs and go hunting, but with a camera instead of a gun or bow.

Go through all the motions of hunting, from tracking to silence to the final approach, and try to bag a perfect photo. Better still, if the kids are along, you get to teach them about hunting, which they'll never learn in most schools.

So, we've starting molding you into shape. Now what about all the equipment?

Unless you're a sporting shooter, you probably haven't unzipped the shotgun case since last November, or rifle case if you travel outside of Massachusetts. Do so. You might be disappointed in the condition of the old blunderbuss, if you forgot to oil it down properly. Better still, take in a box of skeet clays with a buddy, and run through a couple of slugs to see if you can find the old paper plate.

How about your knife? Ready for a new belt knife, or is the current one just ready for honing? Buffing up an edge is a lovely way to waste a summer afternoon.

Are your hunting clothes in good shape? Maybe you forgot about the "barbed wire incident" at the end of last season, and it's time for a new outfit, or at least some patches. Did you remember to take those candy bars out of your pocket, or did the fox scent bottle leak? (Nah, you'd have noticed the fox scent.) Prices on camouflage and the other hunting clothes are definitely "off season" prices now, if you can find what you want on the back racks.

While you're clothes shopping, a host of new catalogs are arriving in the mail about now. I've gotten the Bass Pro Shops hunting catalog and the Gander Mountain catalog in the last week, and they make for a very thoughtful read in the summer. It's not long before we're back in the woods.

And don't forget a first aid kit, compass, trail muncies, a new topo map -- the list goes on.

As the Boy Scouts say ...

--- Tackle Box ---

If you want a doe (antlerless deer) tag, you'd better hurry. Deadline for sending in your application for an antlerless deer permit is August 15. The application is on the back of the license, (hunting or sporting) and a map of the deer management areas is found in the synopsis of the hunting and fishing laws. Pick your area, write out a check, and mail it in soon!

A simple case of mistaken identity

by Jeff Nazzaro

When the Town Crier reported incorrectly on June 30 that Mark West would be marrying Karen Collins, a series of incidents involving keystone kops, banana cream pies, a priest and talk of a new Oliver Stone movie ensued.

Actually, it is Mark's brother, Frank who is set to marry Karen Collins; but that engagement did not prevent Frank from seeking retribution in what he believes to be a major conspiracy which includes the participation of local clergy members and the second cousin of a great-nephew of former Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Frank West, a life-long member of Wilmington and member of the Historical Commission since 1990, "joked" with Capt. Larz Neilson, publisher of the Town Crier, about having Frank's name committed to memory.

Frank West plots his escape.

West thought to himself "Larz, you finally have my name straight," until he read his engagement announcement a few days later on page nine of the Town Crier. In boldface type, were the now infamous words: "Karen Collins to wed Mark West."

Still, Frank kept his upperlip as stiff as a newly-pressed tuxedo, and enjoyed laughs with family and friends at his brother's July 3 cookout.

But then, when his brother received equal congratulations from people on the town common during Fourth of July festivities, Frank had heard enough and took action.

Frank filed a complaint against his felonious fiancée. Karen Collins was arrested by Lions Club Keystone Kop Roger Gouldsbrough on charges of "false advertising, fiancée stealing and misrepresentation."

Frank's feelings of appeasement turned quickly to those of shock, however, when he learned of a warrant out for his arrest on the basis of a complaint received by Mark West against Frank for "disturbing the peace."

On his way to jail, Frank was still trying to figure out exactly what or who's peace he had disturbed. Then, the Church stepped in to further cloud Frank's state of affairs.

Father Browne of St. Thomas' (who is to marry West and Collins this fall) intervened, insisting that the unmarried couple be placed in separate cells.

In a surprise move, Father Browne, himself just freed on bail after being arrested for "working on Sundays and giving too long a sermon," paid Collins' bail, leaving Frank to rot in jail while Karen, who claims she was "born innocent," and Mark were free to carry on their devious duplicity.

"Was Father Browne part of the plot?" Frank had to wonder.

Desperate, West made arrangements for a special cream pie (complete with file) to be delivered by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Melanson, running the St. Thomas desert booth, situated conveniently next to the jail. The wily West's plot was discovered and he now faced an additional charge of "conspiracy to escape from jail."

In an act of pity, Karen Collins paid her fiancée's bail, with West still pleading for justice regarding his disturbance of the peace.

If you have any information regarding the West-Collins engagement conspiracy, write your congressman or call 1-900-WHICH-ONE? Kids, get your priest's permission before calling. All proceeds will go to the Karen Collins' honeymoon fund. One wedding is expensive enough these days, but two? That's criminal.

The preceding has been an embellished account of a story provided by Mark West. Do not call the 900 number, it's not real.

Karen Collins claims innocence.

Karen Lee Collins to wed Frank J. West

Karen Lee Collins, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Collins and Frank J. West, son of Mrs. Mary West and the late Mark West, Sr. have announced their engagement.

Karen, a graduate of Saugus High School and North Shore Community College is currently employed as accounts receivable/collections manager for Fairview Administrative Services.

Her fiancé, A graduate of WHS and Western New England College, is employed as a senior budget analyst at Sumaria Systems Inc.

A fall wedding is planned.

People Helping People meets August 11

Cancer patients and their families cope with many concerns and stresses. "People Helping People" is a support group offered at Winchester Hospital which addresses their concerns. The group brings together patients and their families and friends with a health care professional who can give support and encouragement. Patients who attend the meeting want to hear and talk to other people who have been through the same experience. We try to help them deal with their emotions. The group is a combination of self help, education and counseling.

People Helping People will meet August 11 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at Winchester Hospital and continues to meet the second Wednesday of every month. Call (617) 756-2634.

Allgrove proposal approved

The Board of Appeals Tuesday night approved the proposals for the houselot of the Allgrove home at 281 Woburn Street. The decision was reached about 9:30 p.m.

As a result, a new lot of land will be made adjacent to the new Allgrove Lane, which leads into a new subdivision. Instead of the required 125 feet in width, only 101 feet will be required. The present home will remain untouched.

Letters were presented to the board from both the Massachusetts' Historical Commission and the Wilmington Historical Commission attesting to the history of the home, and its present value as such. The home was constructed in 1730. Three members of the historical commission were present, Chairman Carolyn Harris, Dorothy Lafionatis and Adele Passmore.

Wilmington commercial properties getting hot

by Jeff Nazzaro

It seems businesses are discovering Wilmington again. A year since being vacant, the building owned and leased by Lucci's Realty Trust is full.

Roughly one year ago, in July, 1992, Amana Refrigeration, a division of Raytheon Co., moved their northeast sector sales and service zone office from Woburn to Wilmington, leasing 10,000 square feet from Lucci.

Ten months later the 51,500 total square footage of the building is occupied.

John Lucci, Sr. owner of Lucci's Realty Trust, credits subdivision of the building with the influx of tenants.

"Basically, we had to become very competitive and very aggressive with our rentals.

"Once we started splitting [the Lucci building] up, it started filling up," Lucci said.

Amana Zone Manager George Blinkinsop credits location and Lucci for the move to Wilmington.

"For our employee base this is a good location. John Lucci was really the only [realtor] willing to subdivide [and is] probably the main reason why we're here," Blinkinsop said.

Service and Parts Manager Tom Lennon, a Tewksbury resident, said that proximity to Interstate Route 93 and to surrounding towns make it a "pretty good central location."

Lennon says the area, at the intersections of Route 129, Lowell Street and Woburn Street offers "plenty of parking and seems to be a very safe area."

In addition to Amana, other tenants occupying the building are: Priority Call Management, Intelogic Trace, RGIS, CVS (regional office), Transaction Environments Inc., Linear Technology, Kenda Systems, Inc., Mosaic Systems, Inc. and Industrial Management.

Amana Cabana

LAND COURT
DEPARTMENT OF
THE TRIAL COURT

(SEAL) Middlesex, ss. Civil Action No. 195418
Ruth Tkachuk, Michael Tkachuk and Nancyne Tkachuk Plaintiff (s) vs.

Charles Boyle, James A. Hackett, Louis J. Farkas, Jr. and Phillip Fenton, as they are members of the Board of Appeals of the Town of Wilmington and the Town of Wilmington Defendant(s)

To: All persons interested in the matter of zoning of by-law of said Town, Section 5.3.2, as it affects the building and land of petitioner known as Lots 50, 51, 52 and 53 on Land Court Plan 8860B dated November 1924. Recorded with the Middlesex North Registry District of the Land Court.

You are hereby notified that a complaint has been filed by the above-named plaintiff(s) in which you are named as an interested party. This complaint concerns:

The demand that this Court declare that Mass. Gen. L. Ch. 40A §6 and Wilmington zoning bylaw Section 5.3.2 protect plaintiff's Lot 53 as preexisting non-conforming lot from increases in minimum dimensional requirements and permit plaintiff to construct a single family dwelling in the R-10 residence district on Lots 50, 51 and 52; that said lots are separate lots, that a building permit be issued to construct a single family dwelling on Lots 50, 51 and 52; and such further relief that the Court deems right and just.

-If you intend to make any defense, you are hereby required to serve upon plaintiff(s) attorney, Robert G. Scarnano, Esq., whose address is 1147 Main St., Suite 106 Tewksbury, MA 01876, an answer to the complaint on or before the twenty-third day of August, the return day hereof, and a copy thereof must be filed in this Court on or before said day.

If you fail to do so, judgment by default will be taken against you for the relief demanded in the complaint. Unless otherwise provided by Rule 13(a), your answer must state as a counterclaim any claim which you may have against the plaintiff(s) which arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff(s) claim you will thereafter be barred from making such claim in any other action.

It is ORDERED that notice be given by publishing a copy of this order one time in the Wilmington Town Crier, a newspaper published in the County of Middlesex, one month at last before the twenty-third day of August.

Witness, ROBERT V. CAUCHON, CHIEF JUSTICE, of the Land Court, the fifteenth day of July, 1993.

Young Adults & Plastic Money

By KEN MAGUIRE

You're a 20-year-old college student returning home to your dorm room or apartment after a not-so-tough day at class. Checking the mail, you're relieved to see that there is just some junk, and luckily no bills.

But before you sit down to relax, you notice one other envelope drawing your attention. Seems a certain bank in Maryland or New York or somewhere else, wants to hand you a fat line of credit with low monthly minimum payments. Just sign your name on the dotted line and return the pre-approved application. No questions asked.

Yes, you tell yourself, having a credit card is a great way to build a solid credit history so you can buy goodies such as cars, boats, and houses in the future. While this may be true, it's certainly easier said than done. Buy now and pay later - much later. It's the American way.

A few years later, and a few thousand or so dollars in the hole, some people are wondering what hit them. The American way has turned into the American nightmare. Creditors are breathing down your neck and the effects of a stagnant economy are slapping you squarely in the face. Meanwhile, finance charges, late fees, and collection agencies have become all-too-familiar terms in your vocabulary.

Sound familiar? It does to recent college graduate Craig Martin, of Malden. By the end of his junior year at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, he had three credit cards, with a total credit limit of $2,500. It wasn't long before he was calling his creditors, asking for limit increases.

"They gave me increases with no problem, but I ran the things up way too much," Martin said. "Before I knew it, I was a little over four grand in debt and just out of college, with no job, and student loans to top it all off."

That was two years ago. Today, Martin, a 23-year-old graduate student at the University of Florida, has about $1,700 in credit card debt, but concedes that he makes only the minimum payments because that is all he can afford right now.

"I pay them every month, but it's like I'm biting off my nose to spite my face," Martin said. "I pay about twenty (dollars) to four or five cards each month, but almost half goes to finance charges, so I'm not really getting anywhere. It will probably take another few years to get rid of the balances."

Bill McDonough, a staff attorney with the Federal Trade Commission's regional office in Boston, has heard this story before. He said credit card companies go after people like Craig Martin.

"They target who they think will be big purchasers in the future," McDonough said. "That's a known fact. It's a recognized marketing tactic."

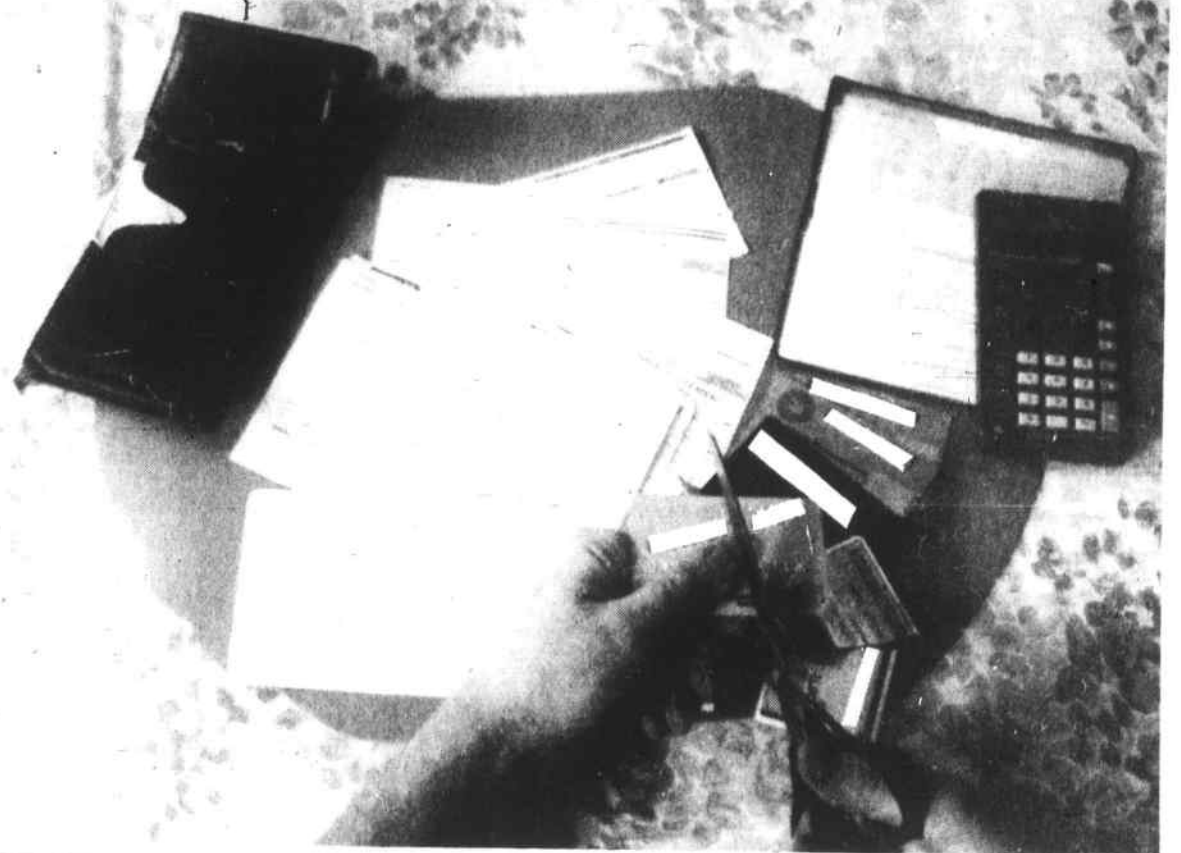

There ought to be a law.

"There is no restriction on the criteria for starting credit, other than discrimination," McDonough said. "If a credit card company wants to take a chance on college kids, they can do that."

And taking that chance usually means big dollars for credit card companies. According to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), the "typical" credit card holder, whether a college student or working person or someone else, pays $442 annually in interest.

The FTC's most recent figures, from 1991, showed that credit card companies nationwide received $33 billion in interest that year.

"The finance charge is one of the biggest sources of revenue they make," McDonough said. "Sixty-eight percent of people with credit cards pay interest, so they are not paying off their balances every 30 days. And many people have more than one credit card."

McDonough estimates that a person who makes minimum payments on a credit balance of $2,000 at 18.5 percent interest will be paying for 10 years. In addition, he said the interest itself in 10 years will total $2,000, so in the long run you're really paying double.

Imagine, all these credit card benefits just by signing your name on the pre-approved application, and all for a low annual fee. Most card companies charge anywhere from $25 to $50 annually simply for the right to use its card. How nice of them, and they don't even want your first-born.

And if you really feel like losing money, take advantage of the convenient "cash advance" offered by most credit card companies.

"That's another terrific revenue source (for the card companies)," McDonough said. "The interest starts just as soon as you get the money and there may be a fee with it. But it's very convenient and very popular."

Credit card proponents say the idea is simple, and only the careless let themselves fall into deep debt. Which may be true, but if everyone paid off their bills immediately, the banks wouldn't be making any money. So the solution is to just stop using the card and pay up. Easy enough, but have you ever followed through on an exercise program, or quit smoking with the snap of a finger?

So what should people do? Should they adhere to our college friend Craig Martin's credit card advice and "cut the evil things up in a million damn pieces and burn them," or is there another solution?

The Better Business Bureau (BBB) puts out public service information on various topics, credit cards being one of them. They advise that people in debt contact a non-profit, or low-fee Credit Counseling Service. Such services can help people budget their income and make timely payments, because if you cannot make your payments, the last thing to do is ignore them.

"The worst thing you can do is hide from your creditors," the BBB spokesman said. "As soon as you know you won't be able to make your payments on time, contact your creditors and explain the problem. Ignoring the situation won't make it go away. It will only come back to haunt you by damaging your credit record."

Once your credit record is damaged, problems may arise in the future when you go to get a loan, or try to get more credit. And if your credit is bad enough, never mind buying a

New National Alzheimer's Wanders Alert Program

As the summer months approach, the Executive Office of Elder Affairs and the Executive Office of Public Safety have joined forces to urge that caregivers of Alzheimer patients take advantage of the new national Alzheimer Wanders Alert Program. Patient wandering is a potentially life threatening behavior associated with Alzheimer's disease. For a $15 fee, families and other caregivers in Eastern and Central Massachusetts have been registering patients in the national program which coordinates efforts to locate and recover missing persons with memory impairments. The program will soon be expanded to Western Massachusetts.

Registered patients are assigned a unique code number which is filed in a central registry for use in identification. Families, or other caregivers, also receive a patient ID bracelet engraved with the patient's name and code number, plus other identifying and educational materials.

Trained staff and volunteers of the Alzheimer's Assoc. are also on call 24 hours.

According to Daniel O'Leary, Executive Director of the Alzheimer's Assoc. of Eastern Mass., 70 cases have been handled since the program began in January last year. There have been four deaths.

"Patients reported missing from private homes, adult day care centers, hospitals and nursing homes were found from Boston to Fitchburg to Chicago, Illinois," said O'Leary.

"The Executive Office of Elder Affairs (EOEA), the Executive Office of Public Safety, and the Boston Commission on Affairs of the Elderly have worked hard to create greater awareness of the life-threatening dangers of patient wandering."

According to Elder Affairs Secretary, Franklin Ollivierre, of the four million Alzheimer patients nationwide, over 100,000 live in Massachusetts.

"Ninety percent are over age 65 and most are cared for at home where there is a greater risk of their wandering away," said Ollivierre. "Many patients are over 80 years of age, which is the fastest growing segment of the state's population. For those living alone, the risks are even greater."

EOEA is working with the Association in training emergency response personnel.

A toll free, 24-hour a day, 800 Alert number is a key component of the unique program, as is a Fax network through Southern New England Telephone which alerts area police, hospitals and other agencies.

For further information call EOEA 1-800-882-2003 or the Alzheimer's Association (617) 494-5150.

IN A PIG'S EYE? HERE'S A REAL POTBOILER - Stoneham resident Edward Urkiewicz has requested that the Stoneham Board of Health allow him to keep Porkchop, his 40-pound pig, as a pet at the Seville Condominiums where they both reside, according to an article on page one of the "Stoneham Independent."

Apparently, Porkchop had already been living there quietly for a year until someone spotted him outside the building. The Condo association has agreed to let him stay if the Board of Health approves his status as a pet. He does use a litter box.

Board of Health Chairman Michael Rolli expressed concern that a permit might set a dangerous precedent, but Board of Health member Tom O'Grady made a motion to issue the permit if the condo' association put their approval into writing.

Porkchop - a pot-bellied Vietnamese pig - is a favorite at area schools and nursing homes.

READING SELECTMEN REORGANIZE - Having just been elected to a second three-year term, George Hines is the new chairman of the Reading Board of Selectmen, succeeding Dan Ensminger.

Gene Nigro is the new vice-chairman and Sally Hoyt continues as secretary.

Hines joined the board in 1990 after serving on the Community Planning and Development Commission.

WILMINGTON ATTEMPTS TO CURB PROBLEM DRIVERS - In an attempt to promote awareness of liquor liability laws for alcohol servers - among bar and restaurant owners, waitpersons, bartenders, and package store owners - the Wilmington Knights of Columbus held a program on alcohol awareness in conjunction with the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau.

Attorney Ronald Beitman, a specialist in liquor liability cases, spoke on the risks involved for establishments serving alcohol, and how to minimize those risks. His main focus was on drunk driving and its relation to alcohol dispensing.

According to one law firm, more than a quarter million Americans have lost their lives in alcohol-related crashes during the past 10 years.

According to the Wilmington "Town Crier," liability in such cases now extends to bars, restaurants, package stores, and most recently, social hosts, including employers.

Beitman suggests that alcohol servers protect themselves and their clientele by adhering to basic policies such as the elimination of large specialty drinks such as scorpion bowls and T-shirts, signs, and slogans that suggest intoxication is a good idea.

NORTH READING AND LYNNFIELD DEVELOP UNIQUE PARTNERSHIP - Thanks to the SEEM Collaborative and an Early Childhood Education grant, North Reading and Lynnfield have begun an integrated preschool partnership designed to serve the general population of three- and four-year-olds, including up to 50 percent of children with special needs.

Under current guidelines, more than half of the children in SEEM preschool classes may have special needs; and this year, all of them do. Under the new program, the maximum number of those children cannot exceed 10 with a teacher and 15 with a teacher and aide, according to North Reading Director of Pupil Personnel Services David Powers in the "North Reading Transcript."

According to Powers, the new program will attain integration for preschools and provide more special needs seat availability for North Reading, Lynnfield and other SEEM communities. It will have the potential of serving 28 special needs students in four integrated classes rather than the 18 now being served in two strictly special education classes.

Preschoolers without special needs will now be able to occupy at least half of the available seats, or another 28 seats.

Powers sees the integrated class as an opportunity for preschoolers to perceive the world as it really is.

Denise Christian, Lynnfield's Director of Special Education and Reading, worked on the program - which the School Committee unanimously supports - with a number of others, and SEEM Executive Director Robert Lyons views it as innovative and exciting.

Expected to be implemented this fall, the program will require one more classroom in North Reading's E. E. Little School.

MEDFORD HIGH STUDENT FIRST IN STATE - Medford High student Brenda Gadoy achieved a first place in the state National Spanish Exam.

STONEHAM NAMES FIRST OFFICIAL DARE OFFICER - Stoneham Police Chief Eugene Passaro has named police officer Thomas Cullen Stoneham's first official Drug Abuse Resistance Education officer "because of his special rapport with children and his total commitment to whatever tasks he has been assigned to in his 13-year career with the Stoneham Police Department."

In preparation for an official fall start, Cullen has already met with civic groups, the United Council of the Stoneham Public Schools and a seventh Developed by Kelly F. Brownell, Ph.D., of Yale University, the program will be taught by Pat Moore, a Registered Dietician at Salem Hospital, with experience in nutrition counseling. It has been approved by Dr. Paul Copeland, an endocrinologist at Salem Hospital, and will be offered in affiliation with North Shore Medical Center.

Participants receive detailed information and group support in five key areas for achieving permanent weight loss - lifestyles, exercise, attitudes, relationships and nutrition.

A free informational session will be held on Tuesday, September 7 from 7 to 8 p.m. at grade class, the members of which already knew the pharmaceutical and street names for many drugs.

With funding the biggest obstacle to building a successful DARE program, Cullen will be contacting merchants during the summer. Stoneham Ford has already contributed a 1989 Ford Taurus to the program as the DARE vehicle and Gambit Signs has donated its services to stencil the logo on that vehicle. MassBank for Savings and Rotary have come up with cash.

And there will be a DARE table at Town Day in September.

THE ECONOMY AND YOU Made In U.S.A. Awareness On The Rise

By Robert E. Swift (NAPS)—With growing awareness of the strong link between U.S. job losses and rising imports, it is not surprising that more Americans want to know where a product was made before they buy it.

Research shows that country-of-origin is now more important than brand when U.S. consumers shop for clothing and home textiles.

Price remains an important factor, but that increasingly leads consumers to Made in U.S.A. The average consumer price of imported apparel has equalled or exceeded the average price of U.S.-made apparel since 1985.

As textile-product imports have gained U.S. market share, their price has escalated faster than the price of U.S.-made goods.

U.S. textile products have something else in their favor: Numerous studies have consistently shown that consumers consider the quality of U.S.-made clothing to be superior to the quality of foreign-made—particularly clothing from the Far East, where workers' wages are as meager as 24 cents an hour in China and 18 cents in Indonesia.

This preference for U.S.-made is not new. In the mid-1980s, the Good Housekeeping Institute asked women to rate the quality of U.S.-made clothing and Far East-made clothing on a scale of 0-to-10 (lowest quality to highest quality). Nearly 80% ranked Made in U.S.A. at seven or higher while only 30% ranked Far Eastern clothing at seven or higher. A 1989 Yankelovich study for Time and CNN found that 82% of consumers believed the United States made better quality clothing than other nations.

In the 1990s, concern over job losses has reinforced consumers' motivation to look for a Made in U.S.A. label. An April 1993 study by Demand Factors found that almost three times as many women agreed that people who buy foreign-made products are helping put Americans out of work, versus those who disagreed.

This is also supported by new research by Issues & Answers Network, which found that approximately 74% said they now pay more attention to labels that tell them where a product was made than they did two years ago. This same research found that over 52% of the people interviewed felt that stores did not make it easy enough to find U.S.-made clothing and home textile products. When U.S.-made clothing is prominently identified as such, recent in-store sales tests in Tennessee and Ohio showed that sales of the identified items increased by 24%.

Such research findings should serve as a wake-up call to clothing and home textile retailers. They can provide what consumers want and increase sales by making it easier to find U.S.-made products in their stores.

Robert E. Swift is executive director of the Crafted with Pride in U.S.A. Council, headquartered in New York City.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

The first question I'm asked when I introduce myself to anyone as the writer of Woodchips is, "How in the world do you come up with so many quips, jokes and puns week after week?" My answer for anyone who cares to know is, First, I have an antagonist like my Aunt Nora who thinks everything I do is "stupid." Second, I had an Uncle John Shea who told me countless number of stories of his native Ireland. Thirdly, and perhaps most important, it helps write Woodchips if you're a little "nutty."

Let me try to prove the point. Michael Curran, a cousin of mine, is a master "electrician" who works from his "current" Woburn address. He owns a "wire" haired terrier and watches his weight by eating a "light" lunch every day. He recently won the contract to change Washington, D.C. to A.C.

I don't mind people bragging a little bit, I do myself, like, I used to think I was conceited but now I "know" I'm "perfect."... Paul Simon, a chemist from Stoneham, said, "Chemists have the 'solutions' for all the world's problems." Jim DiNova, an engineer, said, "Engineers relieve the 'stress and strain'." Biologist Patricia Millward of Wilmington said, "Biologists are the only ones who know what came first, the chicken or the egg." Some doctors just stand there and say, "A-h-h."

My Aunt Nora complained to the doctor about a pain in her right leg. "How often does the pain come?" "Every five minutes," Aunt Nora said. "How long does it last?" "About half an hour," Aunt Nora replied.

"Anyway," the doctor said, "the pain is due to old age." "I beg to differ," my Aunt exclaimed, "My left leg is just as old as this one and it's o.k."

I've been told many times by readers of this column that I'm greater than Einstein. Only 12 people in the world understood Einstein but they don't know anybody who understands me... Folks, you can always tell a man or woman who owns his or her own home. He or she is either walking in or out of a hardware store... A 'camel' is a 'horse' put together by a committee.

I know many friends of mine who are compulsive gamblers but they can't beat Lady Godiva who put everything he had on a horse... Folks, after reading this, you know why my Aunt Nora hates me but I love her.

PERSONALITY WINNERS:
Councillor at Large Arthur P. Boyle, Jr., Marianne Pawl, Cathleen Gallagher, Leanne Daly and John Harrington, all of MALDEN; Honorable James W. Killam, III, retired, Kathleen M. Calareso, Vinnie and Ruthie Harrington, Paul M. Dantas and Eric W. Doren, all of READING; Dale S. Griffen, Christine DeNanno, Kimberly A. Hiloreth, Josephine M. Rossi and Mary R. Hildrith, all of WAKEFIELD; Welcome Father "Dick" Messina new Pastor of St. Mary's Church Winchester, Lisa E. Campbell, Janet Santiago, Tom and Carrie Mooney and Michael Varley, all of WINCHESTER; Laura Lynn DePaoli, Michael Jason Doherty, Michelle L. Bruno, Julie Freitas and George A. Getty, III, all of WOBURN; Ornella B. Bascunan, Mary E. Beaudry, Allison C. Shields, Judith Anne Newton, Mary Brooks and Corine M. Cressman, all of BURLINGTON; Kevin Edginton, Tina Gallagher, Muriel Beatty, Virginia Melanson and Jim and Diane McCarthy, all of STONEHAM; Larry Ross (Bagpiper) (you look great in kilts, Larry), Peter Major, Tommy Downes, Catherine O'Leary and Brenda Jones, all of WILMINGTON.

Also, Dave Tyler, Michael Gillett, Stephanie Farrington, Deborah Brooks, Donna Brooks and Jeffrey Whitman, all of TEWKSBURY; Police Officer David Donegan and his lovely wife, Sherrie, Father Gerry Gillespie, Eleanor Domenichello, Dwight "Dewey" Evans and Sgt. John Madden, all of LYNNFIELD; Donnie and Irene Kelsen, George Fortin, Amy Camarda, Caroline Guy and Paul Myette, all of NORTH READING; Jennifer A. Carlberg, Carol A. Roberts, William C. McGunagle, Glen A. Philley and David J. Shoetz, all of MELROSE; Ruth Carr, Hannah Dizio, Elizabeth Owens, Evelyn Tynner and Marcia Varnerin-Luongo, all of MEDFORD; James Mitchell, Julie A. Kenney, William M. Bertocchi, Timothy J. O'Keefe and Jimmy Brennan, Jr., all of EVERETT.

Steven Herbert and Junior Frye watched the pretty girls walk by. Along came a 'beauty' and Steve said, "Hi Cutie!" and that's how he got a 'black eye'... Frank Renda of Wakefield asked Father Dan, "What's this thing called arthritis?" Father Dan replied, "Some say it's caused by excessive drinking and chasing women. In other words, living the life of Riley. How long have you had it?" "Oh! Not me!" Frank exclaimed, "but I heard that the bishop has a touch of it."

I worked for the State one summer many years ago, with a crew of college students in Lynnfield. We cleared brush, bushes and rocks from the side of the road to make a walkable sidewalk. A super critical resident stopped his car one day and asked me, "Are you and your crew building sidewalks for the 'birds' to walk on?" I visited the general area where we worked about ten years later and it was clear to me what that gentleman meant. Hardly anyone walks on the sidewalks we built. On many palatial estates with luxurious emerald green lawns there were at least one or two Mercedes or Jaguars in the driveways. I am happy for the people who won those cars and also for the 'birds' and the sanctuary my crew of college students built for them.

While at Hampton Beach this summer, I couldn't help noticing that anatomy is something everybody has but, somehow it looks a lot better on the young ladies... I heard that the members of the crew on the ship Old Ironsides are picked for their strong "constitutions"... For those of us like me who can't tell one kind of a tree from another, remember that you can tell a "dogwood" tree by its "bark"... One small "David and Goliath" cocktail and I'm "stoned."

At a Lynnfield country club dance, a hostess asked me, "Why aren't you dancing?" "I'm a little stiff from polo," I explained. "Well," she snapped back, "I don't care where you're from, you should dance and enjoy yourself!"... I loved the old Tarzan movies. I especially loved to hear King Kong sing, "Girl-rella of my dreams" to his sweetheart.
